Sun publishes final edition

Leaving behind a legacy of spirited public service and dramatic newspaper innovation, the St. Louis Sun ceased publication Wednesday, seven months to the day from its launch. The bold venture had been closely watched across the nation as one of the first new major metropolitan daily newspaper introductions in the United States in more than four decades.

"This is a decision which the marketplace made for us," said Ralph Ingersoll II, editor-in-chief of The Sun. "Today, after seven months and after exhaustive consideration, it is clear that we could not achieve sufficient circulation to make this enterprise viable. And so, we have concluded that there is no longer room for a third major newspaper in addition to our own Suburban Journals and the Post-Dispatch."

Ingersoll thanked St. Louisans, whom he said had given the Sun a warm welcome and a fair trial. He said that The Sun had a higher home-delivery circulation than he had anticipated, and that advertising lineage was at a high for the year. But single-copy sales were sharply below projections — and those sales, the sales of newspapers at news stands and coin boxes, had been at the heart of The Sun's business plan to build the newspaper to financial viability.

After publishing 213 editions, the St. Louis Sun had created a high profile as a public advocate for some of the most important issues in the region — relating to economic revitalization. The Sun campaigned hard and successfully for the expanded convention center and domed football stadium, the NFL Partnership, the drive to keep TWA in St. Louis and the preservation of St. Louis as a major U.S. airline hub.

The Sun also had been acclaimed locally and nationally for its editorial initiatives and innovations, including TV Week, its glossy television magazine, Peach, its full-color Friday entertainment supplement, Fun in the Sun, its children's weekend magazine designed to promote literacy as well as fun, and the daily centerfold TV/cable listings, the first full-color daily listings of their type. The Sun's advanced electronic color design and makeup also set new standards for the industry.

But all simply failed to build sales of the new daily. "We started The Sun with a budget of $20 to $25 million, and our investment has actually been somewhat more than this," said Robert M. Jelenic, president of Ingersoll Publications Co. "Nevertheless, in spite of all our efforts, we concluded that no level of continuing investment would have resolved the single-copy circulation issue."

Mr. Ingersoll took pains to make it clear that his decision to close The Sun was not based on lack of advertising support, which had actually increased by more than 75 percent since Jan. 1. He also thanked the many state and local civic and business leaders who had been such strong advocates for The Sun and the community-wide issues The Sun had supported.

Still, he emphasized, this is not good-bye. "Far from leaving the St. Louis region, we've been here for seven years already and will continue to publish the 153-year-old Alton Telegraph and the 44 editions of the Suburban Journals, which reach more St. Louisans than any other newspaper," he said.

"Today, the Suburban Journals are regarded as the largest and highest-quality community newspaper group in the United States. We intend to further strengthen our commitment to the more than 900,000 households we already serve in the greater St. Louis area by investing in new editions, plants and presses in the years ahead. We also plan to continue The Sun's commitment to actively support initiatives which enhance the quality of life of all who live here in this wonderful region."

Rate hike Nobody happy with proposal

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The hearing officer for the Illinois Commerce Commission recommended Thursday that Illinois Power get only about one-eighth of its requested electric rate increase.

IP spokesman Scott Peterson said, "If the final order (from the ICC) is anything like this, we would file again immediately and be in court appealing it at the same time."

IP has requested an increase totalling $264 million, most of it based on recovering the cost of the construction of the Clinton nuclear power plant. To use a rate increase to the cost of capital improvements, a utility must prove to the ICC they are "used and useful" to its customers.

An increase of only $27 million, or about 2.8 percent, was recommended by the hearing officer, who said "Clinton's operating performance in 1989 was woefully lacking."

Peterson said IP has until May 7 to file exceptions to the proposed order and still hopes the ICC will "take all the evidence into account" and grant the full increase.

In the last increase the ICC granted IP, the commission granted limited it to reflect only a small percentage of Clinton as "used and useful," but said the company could file again as more of Clinton became "used and useful" to the customers.

That decision has been appealed by IP and prompted the latest rate increase request. "Essentially, the 2.8 percent increase (recommended by the hearing officer) leaves us stranded in the same devastating position we were placed by their last decision."

State Sen. Sam Vadala, D-Edwardsville, disagrees. "Illinois Power has continually looked to the consumer to pay for its mistakes," Vadala said. "In providing the utility with even a fraction of the increase that they asked for we are condoning this practice."

Peterson said the ICC staff has said Clinton is "100 percent used and useful" and that Clinton's admittedly long period of down time in 1989 was due to refueling.

"That's not an operational problem," he said. "... We want to get the Clinton issue settled once and for all and get some sort of rate stabilization. This going back each year for an increase isn't doing anyone any good."

But Vadala said, "Even though the hearing officer rejected IP's picture of doom and gloom, ... the ICC should take his recommendations one step further and deny IP a rate increase period."

Sorry, Charlie Bernaix fire chief no more

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — When Mayor Von Dee Cruse appoints a fire chief on Tuesday, it will not be Charlie Bernaix.

"I was told Thursday morning by (City Attorney) Mark Goldenberg I wasn't being reappointed," Bernaix said. "I'd asked the mayor before on at least three separate occasions, but he always said he hadn't decided."

Cruse confirmed he will not reappoint Bernaix, but declined to give a reason, saying he did not want to get into a public debate, even if he does get criticized.

He declined to say who will be appointed. Bernaix said he was given "some reasons" by Goldenberg.

"I probably ought to sit down and talk to you about them, but I probably ought to sit down and talk to my attorney, too," Bernaix said. "... I will say there is no one in the world that doesn't make mistakes, but my mine were not major."

"I guess my biggest mistake was not getting along with the mayor better."

Asked if he planned any sort of legal action concerning the matter, Bernaix said, "Like I said, I do have an attorney."

Bernaix said he will remain in the Fire Department.

"I can't retire. If I could, I would," he said.

He said he will become eligible for retirement in a year and 10 months.

As far as who will be the next chief, Bernaix said, "I've heard it will be (Assistant Fire Chief) Bobby Bell and I've heard Jerry Wallace and some people have told me it will be someone else, but wouldn't say who."

Signs marking truck route can take drivers for a ride

By Andy Slering
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — You can't get there from here. Not if you follow the signs marking the route through-trucks are supposed to take in Granite City.

Take the signs on Madison Avenue, for instance.

If you're driving north (actually northwest) on Madison Avenue in front of Granite City Steel, the signs marking the truck route say you're driving south.

Across the street, the signs tell you you're driving north.

But let's say you're a law-abiding trucker with a natural sense of direction. You ignore what the signs say about compass directions because you know when you're really driving north on Madison Avenue. You know where you're going.

But not for long. You get to 20th Street, where you're supposed to turn left. You get no help from the city. There's no sign telling you to turn left.

That's not the end of it. There are signs with arrows at some intersections that instruct you to turn left or right in order to follow the route.

The problem is, the signs may say turn left and say north. If you turn left, you will actually be going west.

There's one like that at Edwardsville Road and 20th Street. Does it mean to say that you're actually traveling north, but you're supposed to go left? Or does it mean that you turn left you will be going north?

What about it, Mac Warfield? The superintendent of streets sighed. "I knew we were going to catch some heck about them," he said.

Warfield said he warned the guy who ordered the signs and their placement — city Traffic Engineer Ed Schultze — that "heck" would be forthcoming.

"I said, 'Ed, these things just don't

Chemical spilled in Venice yards

VENICE — Firefighters responded to a minor chemical spill last week at the Chicago, Missouri & Western Railroad yards near 200 Main St.

No one was evacuated from the area. The spill was reported at about 9:30 p.m. by the Wells Fargo Security Co.

The spill was minor and involved the chemical hexachlorobutadiene, a liquid solvent used in rubber manufacturing.

Bill Schreiber, director of the St. Clair County Emergency Services and Disaster Agency, said the chemical was leaking at a rate of three or four drops per minute.

Les Morrow, an environmental toxicologist with the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, said the cancer-causing chemical would have to be eaten to be dangerous.

Beats limousine with bat

Michael J. Georgeoff, 20, of the 2300 block of Emert Avenue was charged with aggravated assault April 22 when he allegedly broke a window on a rented limousine in which a female acquaintance was riding.

The woman, who had dated Georgeoff, told police she had gone to an Eastern Illinois University prom with another man, but had agreed to have the limo drop her off at Georgeoff's residence after the prom.

When the limo arrived and the driver got out to let the woman out of the car, Georgeoff allegedly approached with a baseball bat and menaced him. When the driver got back in and drove off, Georgeoff smashed the window, according to the driver and other passengers.

When police arrived to arrest Georgeoff, he allegedly kept trying to pull away and cursed the officers. In addition to the assault charge, he was charged with resisting arrest and criminal damage.

Parents plead not guilty to murder

By Andy Stiering
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The mother and stepfather of a 2-year-old girl who died in February pleaded not guilty to murder charges at their arraignment Friday morning in Edwardsville.

Kathy R. Phillips, 18, and Jim Phillips Jr., 24, of Maryville, formerly of Granite City, were charged with first-degree murder in the death of Heather Watson.

Heather, 2, died Feb. 2 at St. Louis Children's Hospital during emergency surgery to repair a ruptured bowel. A St. Louis medical examiner said the child had died from "blunt abdominal trauma."

Police believe Kathy Phillips did not seek medical attention for her daughter until three days after the fatal blow was struck.

If convicted, the Phillipses could get the death penalty, but Madison County State's Attorney Bill Haine said Friday that the prosecution was not requesting the death penalty "at this time."

The Phillipses also pleaded not guilty to conspiracy to conceal a homicide, concealment of a homicide, obstructing justice and two counts of cruelty to a child.

Kathy Phillips was charged with a third count of cruelty to a child and with state benefits fraud, the latter charge for concealing her marriage in order to continue receiving food stamps.

After Heather's death, the Phillipses moved from Granite City to Maryville.

Thursday's murder indictments allege that the Phillipses struck Heather in the abdomen between Jan. 28 and Feb. 1, and then failed to get medical attention in time to save her life or failed to inform medical personnel of her abdominal injury.

Kathy Phillips' mother, Sandra Abernathy, 38, of Granite City, pleaded not guilty to two counts of perjury for allegedly lying to the grand jury. She had been granted immunity for her testimony, but that did not cover allegedly false statements to the grand jury.

Haine said the trial probably will not be started until September in order to allow time to transcribe the grand jury testimony and give the defense a chance to inspect that testimony.

Aldermen pat selves on back for aggressiveness

GRANITE CITY — The aldermen approved two self-styled "landmark" measures Tuesday, and then patted themselves on the back for doing so.

The City Council approved a comprehensive development plan and, following a closed session, approved a $500,000 financial agreement that clears the way for QuikTrip's development of a full block at Madison and Niedringhaus avenues.

"This is true progress, the type of progress that sends a positive signal to potential developers," said 2nd Ward Alderman Jim Miller.

"In my 11 years as an alderman, this council has been the most far-seeing," said 3rd Ward Alderman Paul Fisk.

"I'd like to compliment the aggressiveness of the City Council," said 7th Ward Alderman Jeff Worthen.

"This is the most progressive council I've ever seen," said

Mayor Von Dee Cruse. "What the aldermen do here makes the mayor's job easy."

When it came time for 4th Ward Alderman Dan Partney to give his report as a committee chairman, he asked: "Does anyone want to compliment the Negotiating Committee?"

Some aldermen said no, most remained silent.

"No report then," he said.

Lionesses pop up caramel corn days

Lioness Cheryl Riggs announced that the Pontoon Beach Lioness Club will be out Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5, at area businesses to seek contributions and give away bags of caramel corn as part of Illinois Caramel Corn Day.

As part of the Lioness programs in support of the blind, visually handicapped, deaf and hearing impaired, the club members, augmented by hundreds of friends, relatives and volunteers, will be working in communities across the state.

Funds obtained through Lioness Caramel Corn Day help support a wide array of vision and hearing programs statewide, including:

Eye Donor Registry, which supplies corneal transplants for sight restoring surgery; used hearing aid banks for persons who need and cannot afford new ones; a used eyeglass collection program for needy persons overseas; a mobile glaucoma screening program; Camp Lions for blind and deaf children; and the Lions Low Vision Clinic, which helps children barely able to see to improve their vision.

Riggs noted that in the nine years her club has participated in this project, it has purchased a teleprinter, new eyeglasses for both adults and children, and hearing aids. It recently began the use of a TDD (telephone deaf device).

"While sighted and hearing citizens simply cannot comprehend what it is like to be blind or deaf, they can help... make the lives of the blind and deaf better and richer," said Riggs.

Medal of honor

Madison woman getting school's highest award

By Andy Stiering
Staff writer

ST. LOUIS — Mary A. Bruemmer of Madison will receive the Fleur-de-Lis Medal at St. Louis University's commencement on May 19 — the school's highest award for service.

A 1942 graduate of St. Louis University, the 70-year-old Bruemmer (pronounced Bruemer) has been with SLU since 1956. When, as director of women's housing, she was in charge of the university's first residence hall for women, Marguerite Hall.

In that job, she used to tell graduating seniors to think whenever they saw a fleur-de-lis — "first of all, the Blessed Virgin — it's her liturgical symbol — then St. Louis University, and just incidentally, me."

Since those days, she has received hundreds of fleur-de-lis in all forms from her former charges in Marguerite Hall. And now she is getting another.

Bruemmer is the 35th recipient of the Fleur-de-Lis Medal, which was established in 1947. Currently, she is the assistant to the vice president for development.

In 1967 became the dean of women, a position she held until 1975 when she was appointed dean of student affairs. In that job, she directed student activities and oversaw student government and the school's Honor Society.

In 1985, she joined the university's development office, where she is in charge of recognition for university donors.

"Myra's impact on SLU has been tremendous," commented University President Lawrence Biondi, S.J.

students have for her. My predecessor, Father Thomas Fitzgerald, once said, 'Mary is one of the finest Jesuits we have.' He was right."

Bruemmer is the founder and a charter member of the University's Women's Commission. She was the university's first "Woman of the Year," in 1977.

In 1980, the Student Government Association created "The Mary A. Bruemmer Award," given to members of the university community who have made an "outstanding contribution to the quality of student life."

She is president of the Altrusa Club of St. Louis, a professional and business women's service organization. She is the treasurer and a charter member of the Women's Program Council of the Higher Education Center.

Bruemmer also was the first recipient of the Victor Yanitelli Award in 1980, presented by the Jesuit Student Personnel Administrators.

On June 30, she will retire — sort of. She will actually become a full-time volunteer in the Office of Mission and Ministry, where she will coordinate the university's Ignatian Anniversary Year.

The anniversary year spans two important anniversaries for the Society of Jesus (the Jesuits). Sept. 27 will mark the 450th anniversary of the founding of the order. July 30, 1991, will mark the 500th anniversary of the birth of St. Ignatius of Loyola, who founded the order.

After the anniversary year, Bruemmer said she will continue to work at SLU "as long as there is something to do."

And, she said, she hopes to do some traveling: "I have always wanted to visit Vienna and perhaps revisit the home of my grandfather in Germany. And I have cousins all over the country I would like to visit."

It seemed almost ordained that Mary Bruemmer should become a Jesuit. Her father was named after the order's founder, St. Ignatius.

Ignatius Bruemmer, who died

Mary Bruemmer will take home Fleur-de-Lis Medal in 1976, for 40 years operated the Excelsior Laundry and Dry Cleaning Service in the Quad Cities. He and Mary's mother, Adele (Bergrath) Bruemmer, were very active in St. Mary's parish in Madison.

Bruemmer attended St. Mary's School and Madison High School. She moved away in 1944, but moved back in 1974 when her father became ill. "I wanted to be with my mother," she said.

When her mother died in 1984, she decided to stay "in the house where I grew up."

Bruemmer supplied an update on her two brothers. Joseph Bruemmer retired recently from the Florida Department of Agriculture, where he conducted research on citrus fruit. Norbert Bruemmer is professor of business at Scottsdale (Ariz.) Community College.

'I'm really two people'

Radio's Bob Hardy enjoys public, private life

By Lucyann Boston
Staff writer

ST. LOUIS — He is the undisputed dean of drive time.

In broadcasting, where voices and faces can disappear faster than a flicker of an eye, it is the resonant tones of KMOX Radio's Bob Hardy that have flowed across the St. Louis area with the reliability of the Mississippi River flowing past the Gateway Arch.

Hardy, 59, is celebrating his 30th anniversary with KMOX-AM.

Robert Hyland, senior vice president of CBS Radio and general manager of KMOX and KLOU-FM (103.3), calls Hardy "the personification of what a great newsmen should be. He has to cover a wide range of subjects and be almost a fountain of knowledge and he has done that for 30 years."

Hardy's anniversary is coinciding with a career milestone: the chance to broadcast from Eastern Europe as the Iron Curtain crumbles. His stops in recent days have or will include Berlin, Germany; Prague, Czechoslovakia; Budapest, Hungary; Warsaw, Poland; and Moscow.

Hardy's trip to Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union was one of two newsmen from Missouri to accompany Gov. Warren Hearnes and trip to the Soviet Union to confer with what Hardy calls "middle management politicians" in the Communist country.

Another career highlight came on an afternoon in the summer of 1972. He only was the only member of the news media invited into the Miami hotel suite of U.S. Sen. Thomas Eagleton, D-Missouri, while Eagleton waited for a phone call from Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern asking the senator to be the party's vice presidential candidate.

"I was happy to be invited to be in there and equal happy I had the presence of mind to tape

BOB AND RE HARDY sit on the ledge of the stone fireplace in the contemporary house at Wildflower, their 60-acre farm near Marine in Madison County.

Tom's side of the conversation when the call came," Hardy said.

The general consensus among the group of reporters in the hallway outside of Eagleton's door was that if you couldn't be in there yourself, Hardy was a good second choice.

As well as being respected a good newsmen, Hardy has a reputation as a straight shooter. It was agreed that while KMOX probably would have the story before Hardy emerged from the suite, once he did, the reporters in the hall would be filled in with every scrap of information at Hardy's disposal.

A scandal surrounding Eagleton's brief hospitalization for a nervous condition arose later in the campaign and eventually led to the Missouri senator's resignation as a candidate. At that time Hardy's tape assumed national prominence. It provided proof that McGovern at no time during the phone conversation asked Eagleton about his health as McGovern's aides claimed.

Hardy was news director at KMOX in those days. His morning drive-time colleague Bill Wilkerson, who began at the station in 1970, recalls what it was like to break in at KMOX under Hardy's tutelage.

"He told me he would send me out with another more experienced reporter to get the feel of things," Wilkerson said. "I was supposed to go a press conference with the mayor's office, which he said was a no-brainer."

"Then, he changed his mind and sent me out to the airport by myself to cover the arrival of Vice President Spiro Agnew and phone back a live report. I got half way out there and almost turned the car around. That's the way it was with Bob. You either did the job and survived or you died."

There have been numerous chances for the good-looking, perennially sun-tanned Hardy to leave St. Louis and join forces with other news organizations, including CBS in New York.

"I always came up with some excuse like my kids were in school and I didn't want to move them," said Hardy. "Looking back I think I just didn't want to leave St. Louis. There's a different attitude, a genuine feeling that you don't find on either coast."

That genuine feeling was exemplified six years ago, Hardy said, when his mother died and hundreds of listeners wrote to express their sympathy.

Hardy was born in Pennsylvania, educated in Syracuse, N.Y., and introduced to the St. Louis area by the U.S. Air Force when he was stationed at Scott Air Force Base.

Throughout their tenure in St. Louis, Hardy and his wife of 29 years, Re, have made the East Side their home. They met, in fact, at Scott Air Force Base while Hardy was playing the piano during auditions for a base musical and Re, who was in the Women's Air Force, was trying out as a singer.

Thirteen years ago, after 25 years in Belleville, where they reared their daughter Sandy and son Bob Jr., the Hardys moved to Wildflower, a 60-acre farm near Marine in Madison County.

Perhaps the one consolation of beginning his broadcast day at 5 a.m. may be his 30-minute, mid-afternoon drive home in a baby blue 1986 Corvette convertible. His route passes woods, rolling hills and farms with white houses and red barns that look as if they had been etched on the landscape by Currier and Ives.

"I'm really two people," Hardy said. "I have a public side and I have a very private side and I love both parts of my life."

Anniversary celebrated

Tom and Debrah Shepard of Chouteau venue celebrated their 15th anniversary with a visit to the St. Louis Center and dinner on April 18.

Also that week, Mrs. Shepard arranged a chauffeured driven limousine to Laclede's Landing as a surprise for her husband. In turn he surprised her with a basket of Easter lilies and dinner at Walton's Restaurant.

During the weekend the couple was joined for dinner at Remington's Restaurant by her mother, Tessie Hayes of Doniphan, Mo., and his brother and sister-in-law, John and Anita Shepard of Pontoon Beach.

Mrs. Shepard was again surprised by her husband when a dozen red roses were delivered to her office at Aetna Life and Casualty Insurance in Creve Coeur, Mo. They also visited the Missouri State Fair and celebrated their anniversary cake, jewelry and cologne. They were married April 18, 1975.

Ann Marie and Mary Kay Mitchell were among a group of Granite City High School seniors who traveled to Europe as members of an educational tour.

The group left Lambert Airport on April 6 bound for New York, where they boarded a plane to Stockholm, Sweden, and then on to Moscow.

While in Moscow, the young women visited Red Square, the Kremlin, Lenin's Tomb and St. Basil's Cathedral. They also visited the Moscow Circus and had lunch at the new McDonald's.

From Moscow, they traveled by plane to Belgium where they boarded a tour bus for a journey through France to Paris. They visited the Notre Dame Cathedral, the Louvre, Art Museum and a perfume factory. They also enjoyed a cruise on the Seine River and viewed the Eiffel Tower and the Arc de Triomphe.

From Paris, the local tourists traveled to a port on the English Channel, crossed the channel by ferry boat to England.

In London, the high school seniors saw Buckingham Palace and visited Westminster Abbey and the Houses of Parliament. They also toured the London Transport Museum, saw Big Ben and attended a London theater performance before returning home Easter Sunday.

Ann Marie and Mary Kay are daughters of Philip and Kathy Mitchell of Morrison Road.

Philip and Helen Hickam of East Chain of Rocks Road have received word their son, Tracy, is a patient in U.S. Air Force hospital in Munich, Germany.

Hickam, who is with the Air Force stationed in the Netherlands, is on a Holland soccer team. He suffered a leg injury while playing soccer and was taken to the base hospital, then transferred to Munich.

Carmen Breckner of English Place enjoyed Easter Sunday with most of her children.

Present were: Frances Richards and daughters, Carmen and Miranda; and Adell (Frank) and sons, James, Shawn and Ryn; Michael and Claudia Edens; and John and Cynthia Daugherty and daughters, Kristen and Jessica.

Missing from the gathering were her son, Harvey Breckner, and his family, who called during the day. Harvey Breckner is a major in the U.S. Air Force, stationed at the Thursday Quilting session of the Chouteau Township Quilting Club.

Breckner, a former soccer player in the Mitchell/Granite City youth league, was a member of the Soccer Arsenal of San Antonio. He had just returned from Austin, Texas, where his team won a soccer tournament, with Breckner scoring a goal.

Joan Major, director for the Belleville Area College-sponsored Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP), and Jerri Casson, senior programs specialist, were guests at the Thursday Quilting session of the Chouteau Township Quilting Club.

Come quilting include: A fall-gate sale on June 2 at the Programs For Older Persons Building, 201 N. Church St., Belleville. Rent space for a sale at $10 per space by calling Jerri Casson at 876-3223; a Fun Auction on June 29 at Panorama Bowl, 200 S. Bellvue, Belleville. ## GC Business Women receive district honors

The Granite City Business and Professional Women met at Jerry's Cafeteria and members were presented district awards for their 1989-90 achievements.

President Gloria Druhe, accepting for the entire club, received the BPW District 14 "Club of the Year" award.

A special traveling trophy was returned to its platform for another year, having been won by the local club four out of five years.

Program chairman Debbie Ming received an award for programs. Accepting the district Foundation Award was Lucille Berry, chairman.

Jeannie Hornberger was presented the District 14 Scrapbook Award.

Kathy Clark, Issues Management chairman, gave the program, bringing a different atmosphere to the meeting as members displayed objects that best represented their daily business lives. Others displayed hobbies and items enjoyed.

Clark was the force behind the club's "Women helping Women Day," an event taking place on a snowy day in March. Despite the unexpected snow, the day was successful, Druhe said.

This club expressed appreciation to all the participants, Belleville Area College personnel and others who assisted.

look right." He said, "Well, until we get some complaints, just leave 'em there."
"We put 'em up the way Schultze told us to."
Schultze couldn't be reached for comment, as he was on jury duty. Warfield said he had a map drawn up by Schultze showing what sort of signs should be placed where.
He did, too. The directions were followed in some instances. In some instances, the directions were wrong. In other instances, somebody either misread or disregarded the directions.

Public Works Director Brett Hanke said he tended to think it was Warfield's men who were at fault.
Told that Warfield said it was Schultze's fault, Hanke said, "I suppose that's possible. But it certainly doesn't sound like it. Ed's very meticulous."
Warfield said a truckdriver told him Friday morning that he had never seen compass directions on other cities' truck routes.

"I don't know why we have to have East, West, North or South. Why not just an arrow?" he said.
In fact, that's what Warfield and Hanke decided to do Friday after being contacted Thursday for this story. All the compass directions are coming down.
Hanke was philosophical about the prospect of a little bad press. "If we did everything right, the people in this city wouldn't have anything to laugh about," he said.

Bernaix said he guesses he will find out for sure at the City Council meeting on Tuesday.
"I've got to be there, if the mayor has something he wants to say he's going to have to say it to me," Bernaix said. "And I'm putting a letter together that lists my accomplishments that I would like at least read on the council floor or something."

Wild Electric Rates, a Madison County group affiliated with the Citizens Utility Board, said she isn't happy with any increase, but "personally I'm tired of fighting. It seems so useless."
The biggest problem, Hawkins said, is the ICC itself.

Bernaix said while he has been chief the department has upgraded the radio system, arranged a patient transportation agreement with St. Elizabeth Medical Center, arranged for Belleville Area Corps instructors to come in for firefighter classes and arranged for other classes to be held at SEMC so the firefighters can attend them on-duty, and made "quite a few other" other accomplishments.

"I know I've been accused of getting along with labor too much, but I'm the one that put the clause in the contract that reduced sick leave significantly," he said.
"I'm really disappointed, naturally, but I'm going to walk out with my head held high."

James Thompson, "at least appeared to be listening," but the new appointees "apparently don't listen at all."
Until the ICC is changed to an elected body, she said, "it always will come back to the stumbling block — the commerce commission."

Lambert called responsible for 52,900 jobs in metro area

By Christen Jackson
Staff writer

ST. LOUIS — Lambert-St. Louis International Airport is the second-largest employer in this region, according to a new economic study. Only McDonnell-Douglas Corp. is larger.
The study found that 52,900 people are employed as a result of the airport. Of this total, 19,200 people have jobs directly tied to the airport.
Others are employed by businesses that reap the benefits of the airport's presence. The study estimates that 18,300 jobs are created because airport employees "recycle" their paychecks in the regional economy. Another 15,400 jobs are created when air travelers spend money while visiting St. Louis.

Lambert is now responsible for more than $3.9 billion a year in economic activity, the study reports.
The consulting firm of Laffrum & Brown prepared the economic study for the airport and St. Louis officials. The study will be presented to the Federal Aviation Administration as part of a larger proposal for the expansion of Lambert Airport.

Results of the study were released by Airport Director Donald Bennett and Milton Svetanics Jr., chief of staff for St. Louis Mayor Vincent C. Schoemehl Jr., at a recent press conference.
The $3.9 billion figure is almost twice as high as a 1986 national Air Transport Association study that estimated the airport and its airlines had an annual economic impact of almost $2 billion.

The airport directly generates $915 million by paying salaries and buying goods and services from local firms, Svetanics said. Of this sum, $501 million goes directly into paychecks, Svetanics added.
"The astonishing thing is that one in every 24 workers here is in the job because Lambert is here and growing," Svetanics said.

The City of St. Louis is not the only or even the major beneficiary of the airport, Svetanics said. Using a chart for illustration, Svetanics said that some 47 percent of all paychecks generated by the airport go to residents of St. Louis County; 32 percent of those paychecks go to workers living outside of the metropolitan area; 11 percent goes to workers living in Illinois; and 10 percent of those paychecks go to the City of St. Louis.

"There is an old wives' tale that good things come in threes," Svetanics said. "I believe it. County residents approved a tax increase that will ensure the construction of a new domed convention and sports center. City voters approved a major overhaul of the public schools. Now there is this incredible news about the impact of the airport on our region."

In addition, the study projected that if the airport expands to accommodate growth, passengers boarding planes at Lambert will increase from 10 million today to 15 million by 1995 and 19 million by 2010.

As a result, according to the study, the annual economic value of Lambert to the St. Louis region would increase to $5.3 billion by 1995 and $6.8 billion by the year 2010.

"These projections are fairly modest," said Bennett. Svetanics said this study was based on the idea that Lambert would remain a hub airport. However, he said this growth would happen even if TWA no longer used Lambert as a hub.

Because of St. Louis' central location, Svetanics said other airlines would move into those gates currently operated by TWA.

The big advantage of planning in advance through the American Pre-Need Plan is that a funeral is planned at today's prices. While costs are escalating, your cost remains the same.
EXAMPLE: A person pre-planning a $4,000 funeral at age 65 would pay $2,500 saving $1,500. This plan is also available on a 3 year and 5 year pay plan.
(These figures are an example only. Actual costs will vary. Younger ages reflect greater savings than this example.)

Disabled can now work and keep medical benefits

By Bill Hunot
Social Security Administration

Q. I am permanently and totally disabled. I've been offered a job that I might be able to do but there are no medical benefits. How long can I work and still keep my Medicare?

A. People getting Social Security disability benefits are usually allowed a trial work period. That's nine months in which both Social Security benefits and Medicare are protected while you test your ability to resume work.

If you continue to work after the trial work period and you're earning $500 per month or more you'll lose your monthly cash benefits. But even after your cash benefits stop your Medicare coverage will be extended for three more years.

By the end of those three years many workers will have medical coverage under an employer's medical plan or will be able to afford to buy private health insurance out of earnings.
But if you don't get medical coverage from your job you'll have one more option after your three years of extended Medicare coverage is over. Thanks to a law that went into effect Jan. 1, you'll have an opportunity to purchase Medicare coverage from the government. This change was designed to encourage disabled people to return to work by guaranteeing them the opportunity to get medical coverage. The premium for Medicare Hospital Insurance is $175 per month. The monthly premium for Medicare Medical Insurance is $8.60.

Call 800-234-5772 for more information.

Q. What is a health maintenance organization (HMO), and can I belong to one when I'm on Medicare?

A. An HMO is a combination insurance company and health-care provider. Like an insurance company, HMOs cover health care costs in return for a monthly premium. And they provide doctor and hospital services. Members usually have to go to doctors and hospitals that have contracts with the HMO.

HMO membership can be helpful because it allows you to budget for your health care costs. You know the HMO's monthly premiums in advance and other expenses are predictable.

Another advantage is reduction of paperwork because you don't have to file Medicare claims. And you probably won't need other insurance to supplement your Medicare.

Q. I'm 42 years old but I have Medicare because I have to have a kidney machine. I'm still working and covered by health insurance on my job. Will Medicare pay on my medical bills first and then my other insurance or the other way around?

A. Since you qualify for Medicare because you have chronic kidney disease and you are covered by an employer's group health plan (EGHP) because of your current employment a special rule applies to you.

That rule says that for the first 12 months you're on dialysis your EGHP is the primary payer and Medicare is the secondary payer. So your medical bills should be submitted to the EGHP first. If the EGHP doesn't pay all of the bill submit a claim to Medicare for possible additional reimbursement.

After the first 12 months Medicare will be the primary payer.

Q. My son thinks I'm getting hard of hearing and says that I should check to see if I need a hearing aid. Will Medicare pay for this?

A. No. Expenses for hearing tests and hearing aids are not covered by Medicare.

Q. My grandmother died last month after a long illness. How do I go about submitting her medical bills to Medicare?

A. Medicare will pay any payments due hospitals, home health agencies or hospice programs directly to them. You don't have to worry about those bills.

Whoever has the legal obligation to pay your grandmother's doctors should submit those bills to Medicare. Medicare payment can be requested either before or after the bills are paid.

Call 800-392-3070 for more details.
Send your questions about Social Security to Bill Hunot, St. Louis News Service, 1215 Fern Ridge Parkway, Suite 108, St. Louis, Mo. 63141.

National Pet Week set for May 6-12

The week of May 6-12 is National Pet Week and Be Kind to Animals Week.

To help stimulate pet adoptions during this week, the Madison County Humane Society, located on Route 143 outside of Edwardsville, is participating in the Purina Pet Parent Program. Purina is helping increase the number of adoptions by reducing the adoption fees at the Madison County Humane Society during the month of May.

The cost of a dog or cat adoption during May will be reduced by $10. Dog adoptions will be only $30 and cat adoptions will be $10.

The Purina Pet Parent Program is now in its third year and encourages families with children to adopt pets from animal shelters. Recent studies show pets are an important part of a child's life.

Owning a pet helps children learn compassion, caring and giving, the studies say.

For information on the many orphaned pups and kittens at the shelter, call 656-4406. The shelter opens at 9:30 a.m. and closes at 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. The shelter is open from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

Fleas cause more serious problems than scratching

For many pet owners, the worst four-letter word is "flea." When it becomes five letters—"fleas"—even the most sedate pet owner becomes frantic.

Successful flea control is not easy. Shaking a little flea powder, giving a dip, or putting a flea collar on a pet usually isn't enough.

Fleas go through the first stages of life and lay eggs while not on a dog or cat. They live in the carpet and cracks found in the house. Bedding also can harbor fleas.

It is an enormous help in flea control to vacuum the house thoroughly and often. Sprinkling flea powder on the carpet and allowing it to settle in for a half-hour before vacuuming will do wonders to keep the flea population down.

Flea control is important, but so are two problems with the "flea connection." The first is the fact that fleas carry tapeworms. When a dog or cat is biting at a flea it is running the risk of getting tapeworms. Many fleas carry tapeworms that are passed on to the pet that swallows a flea.

Tapeworm segments can be seen in the pet's feces. When fresh, they appear like little bits of white ribbon. When dried, the segments look somewhat like dried rice. Consult your veterinarian for proper treatment.

The second problem is not directly caused by fleas, but they often pave the way. When a dog scratches a flea bite it uses very unsanitary nails. In addition, there is a lot of bacteria clinging to the pet's hair. When a break is made in the skin the bacteria invades, causing more itching and scratching.

Suddenly one notices a hairless red weeping area that gets larger at a very fast rate. These areas of moist eczema are called "hot spots." It is essential to treat these spots immediately because they enlarge rapidly. A few hours will allow a hot spot to go from the size of a dime as big as a dinner plate.

Fortunately, the liberal application of rubbing alcohol to the hot spot, and the surrounding area, disinfects, relieves the itching and dries up the oozing. Two or three treatments a day usually will clear up a small hot spot in three or four days. Larger hot spots take several more days to heal.

Lenzi scores as girls beat state champs

ST. LOUIS — The Lady Warriors soccer team scored a big victory on Friday, knocking off defending Missouri state champion Incarnate Word 1-0.

Junior Addie Lenzi scored her third goal of the year and sophomore Leslie Stavely picked up the shutout as Granite City improved to 5-3 on the season. Incarnate Word (8-4-2) is ranked second in the St. Louis area behind undefeated Oakville (13-0), which beat the Lady Warriors 4-0 earlier in the year.

The Lady Warriors are unranked, but figure to move up next week. Their three losses have come to No. 1 Oakville, No. 8 Collinsville (8-2) and No. 11 McCluer North (8-2-1).

Mored on Friday's win will appear in Wednesday's Journal. The Lady Warriors host McCluer on Monday in a 6 p.m. game at Memorial Stadium. Travel to Hazelwood West for a 4 p.m. game Wednesday, then host Hazelwood Central on Thursday.

RAINED OUT AGAIN: The Warrior baseball team just isn't destined to play Wood River this year. Maybe that's what catcher Joe Wallace, assistant coach Gus Lignoul and pitcher Rich Schardan are discussing. After being postponed twice earlier in the year, the Warriors and Oilers got four innings in Friday at Varsity Field before the rains forced another postponement with Wood River ahead 3-2. Saturday's double-header at Centralia was also rained out. Granite City hosts Alton on Tuesday.

Golden Brett

Hull's season among best in St. Louis history

If Brett Hull takes his 80 goals per season elsewhere this summer, the grunts like you and I who pay the freight for sports teams in St. Louis will be left with nothing — except the memory of what has been the single best performance in a season by a St. Louis athlete in nearly a quarter century.

The last time a St. Louis athlete in a team sport was this good was in 1968 when Bob Gibson set the stage for his stillborn and grating media career.

Hull's 83-goals-and-counting work this season — the fourth highest in NHL history — is solidly among the Top 10 single seasons ever by a St. Louis athlete. It almost has been good enough to justify having to look at his mug staring out from a newspaper page every 72 hours for the last seven months.

Gibson's 1968 season — 1.12 ERA, 22-9 record, 13 shutouts — probably was the best season ever in St. Louis. Maybe the best ever anywhere.

Rotisserie baseball fans take note: Gibson, who won the MVP, the Cy Young and barely missed out on a Tony in that wondrous pennant-winning year, allowed only 260 hits and walks in 304 innings.

The other nine of the top 10 best-ever St. Louis seasons, with only one spot per individual to keep it from being limited to Gibson, Rogers Hornsby and Stan Musial, are:

2. Hornsby, Cardinals, 1922. A cranky young man among cranky young boys, Hornsby led the league in everything: hits (250), doubles (46), homers (42), RBI (152), batting average (.401), runs (141), total bases (450), slugging percentage (.722), and fielding by a second baseman.

3. Musial, Cardinals, 1948. The best year of a great career. League leader in hits (230), doubles (46), triples (18), runs (135), RBI (131), batting average (.378), slugging percentage (.702), total bases (429) and good will.

4. Bob Pettit, Hawks, 1958-59. The Hawks forward, who won a second MVP award for averaging a league-leading 29 points and finishing second in National Basketball Association rebounding, had everything but a full head of hair in this season. His numbers were better in 1961-62 (31-point average), but Pettit's scoring average in '58-59 was the best the NBA had seen to that point.

5. Hull, Blues, 1989-90. The Blues were only 37-34-9 with him, so imagine being without him.

6. Joe Medwick, Cardinals, 1937. The last Cardinal triple crown winner. Had .374 average, 31 homers, 184 RBI.

7. Larry Wilson, football Cardinals, 1966. Intercepted passes in seven straight games. Maybe the best season ever by a National Football League defensive back.

8. Dizzy Dean, Cardinals, 1934. The last 30-game winner in the National League. Had seven saves to boot.

9. George Sisler, Browns, 1920. The greatest Brownie ever has to be on this list somewhere. Hit .407, knocked in 122 runs and struck out only 19 times.

10. John Tudor, Cardinals, 1985. Winner by a nose over Johnny Mize, '80; Willie McGee, '85; Bruce Sutter, '84; Jacques

Plante, 1968-69; and a small army of other worthy contenders. Tudor won 20 of his last 21 decisions and had three shutouts in September, including a 1-0 win against Mets. (Dennis Barnidge is a sports columnist for the Suburban Journal.)

GRANITE CITY — The Warriors team event, in which the record at 5-4 with a 6-3 win over Goldsline on Wednesday, Granite City won the 1984-85 season in Southwestern Conference play.

After splitting the six singles matches, the Warriors swept the double competition. Raffi Kariban (6-4, 6-3) beat Scott Siegel and Ryan Kneeder, while Dave Ogle (6-4, 6-2) beat Sean Ellis and Ryan Kneeder, at No. 2 singles (7-6, 6-2) and freshman Danny Debert beat Sean Ellis 6-4, 6-2.

Kariban and Lane beat Siegel and Kneeder 6-4, 6-2, while Portell and Scott Harrison beat Ellis and John Johnson at No. 2 doubles 6-4, 6-2.

Forsy beat Geoff Singer and Dave Ogle to complete the double sweep.

The Warriors were to compete in the Belleville East Invitational, but the team was unable to appear in Wednesday's Journal.

Seafood salad makes a delicious lunch

Pack a seafood salad for lunch to enjoy on top of the deck or escape with it in the park on a warm spring day.

More businesses provide kitchen privileges, or at least a refrigerator, so it is easier to pack something cool and delicious in a briefcase or brown bag. Simply make certain the salad is very thoroughly chilled before a short or moderate drive to work on a cool day, so it has little time to come to room temperature and harbor the seeds of illness at a lunchtime lark. Even better, provide a means of keeping it cool, for instance, with a solid ice pack that can be refrozen for lunch toting tomorrow.

This salad uses the imitation crab look-alike, surimi seafood, and it is a pleasure to eat, as well as pay for. Tortellini and Seafood Salad's flavor is enhanced when it has a chance to blend, so it can be made the night before to allow a quick start in the morning.

Tortellini and seafood salad

- 1/2 pkg., (10 oz.) cheese tortellini, uncooked
- 1 1/2 cups fresh broccoli flowerets, or frozen broccoli cuts, thawed
- 1/2 cup plain low-fat yogurt
- 2 tbsp. reduced-calorie mayonnaise
- 1/4 tsp. cider vinegar
- 1 tsp. finely chopped or 1 tsp. dried parsley
- Pinch thyme
- Pinch pepper
- Dash pepper sauce
- Pinch garlic powder

1/2 lb. imitation crabmeat, diced or cut in chunks
1/4 cup sliced ripe olives, drained
Cook tortellini in unsalted boiling water according to package directions. Drain. Rinse with cold water.

Steam broccoli over 1 inch boiling water 5 minutes, or microwave broccoli and 1 tablespoon water in 1-quart covered casserole on high 1 1/2 minutes until tender-crisp. Drain.

In small bowl, combine yogurt, mayonnaise, vinegar, parsley, thyme, pepper, pepper sauce and garlic powder. Stir until smooth.
In large bowl, combine imitation crabmeat, tortellini, broccoli and olives with dressing. Mix well. Chill 2 hours or overnight.

Yields 3 main-dish servings, about 4 1/2 cups; 323 calories, 15.8 gm. protein, 9.33 gm. fat and 942 mg. sodium per serving.

PACK A LUNCH that makes uncommonly good noon-time sense, not to mention delicious refreshment that renews energy.
